WELCOME!

Thank you for joining Utegration India Pvt Ltd. We hope you agree that you have a great contribution to make to our organization and that you will find your employment with us a rewarding experience. We look forward to the opportunity of working together to create a more successful company. We also want you to feel that your employment with us will be one that is mutually beneficial and gratifying.

INTRODUCTION

An interesting and challenging experience awaits you as an employee of Utegration India Pvt.Ltd. We have written this handbook in order to answer some of the questions you may have concerning the policies of the Company and, in certain instances where noted, policies specific to Utegration. Please read it thoroughly and retain it for future reference. Should you have any questions regarding any policies, please reach out to the Human Resource Team for assistance.

DEFINITIONS

- The term "employee" as used throughout this handbook means those employees employed by Utegration India Pvt.Ltd.
- The term "employment/ Utergration" as used throughout this handbook means your employment with Utegration India Pvt.Ltd.
- The term "Company" as used throughout this handbook means Utegration India Pvt.Ltd.

This handbook is not a contract guaranteeing employment for any specific duration. Your employment with Utegration India Pvt.Ltd. is also at-will unless a duly authorized employment agreement is signed between you and Utegration India Pvt.Ltd.

An at-will employment relationship means that both you and the Company have the right to terminate your employment at any time. No supervisor, manager or representative of the Company, other than Managing Director, has the authority to change your at-will status, enter into any agreement for employment for any specified period, or make any promises or commitments contrary to the foregoing.

NOTICE TO EMPLOYEES

This Employee Handbook supersedes all previous Company handbooks and policies, other than the policy of at-will employment which may only be changed by a written document signed by Managing Director of the Company. In addition, this handbook supersedes all prior management memoranda to the extent that such memoranda contradict a subject or policy covered herein.

CHANGE IN POLICY

The policies in this handbook are subject to change at the sole discretion of the Company. We will notify you of these changes by appropriate means. Changes will be effective on dates determined by the Company, and you may not rely on policies that have been superseded. No supervisor or manager has any authority to alter the foregoing.

If you are uncertain about any policy or procedure, please check with the Human Resource Team. Any changes made in the policy will be circulated among employees within the tenure.

EMPLOYMENT POLICIES

This handbook is designed to answer many of your questions about the practices and policies of the Company. These policies apply to all areas of employment, including recruitment, hiring, training and development, promotion, transfer, termination, layoff, compensation benefits, social and recreational programs, and all other conditions and privileges of employment in accordance with the company policy.

Feel free to consult with your HR for help concerning anything you do not understand.

AT-WILL EMPLOYMENT

Your employment with Utegration is at-will unless a duly authorized employment agreement with Utegration provides otherwise. As an at-will employee, you have not entered into a contract regarding the duration of your employment, which means you are free to terminate your employment with the Company at any time, with or without reason. Likewise, the Company, in its discretion, has the right to terminate your employment, or discipline, transfer or demote you at any time, with or without reason, as long as not otherwise prohibited by law. As provided in the Handbook Acknowledgement, nothing in this handbook creates or is intended to create a promise or representation of continued employment. This handbook supersedes any and all prior handbooks, written documents (with the exception of duly authorized employment agreements) or oral or implied representations that might otherwise contradict the at-will nature of your employment.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

The Company provides equal employment opportunities to all employees and applicants without regard to race, color, religion, gender, identity or expression, sexual orientation, national origin, genetics, disability, age or veteran status.

CLASSIFICATIONS OF EMPLOYMENT

For purposes of salary administration and eligibility for overtime payments and employment benefits, the Company classifies its employees as follows:

- Full-time Regular Employees - Employees hired to work a normal, full-time workweek (Monday – Friday) of forty five (45) hours or more on a regular basis. However there could be a deviation from core timing, days based on project demands. All employees will be on probation for a period of 1 month from the start date of your employment. During this period, either party may terminate your employment by providing fifteen (15) working days prior notice in writing to the other party. Following this initial one month period, the prior notice period required by either party for future termination is 3 months. All the notice period will have to be served in India, Bangalore office. However if you are on an assignment in other country or client location, notice period will be effective only once you are back to the home office – Bangalore India. The last pay cycle during the notice period will not be processed and it will be paid during the Full & Final settlement.

- Part-time/Contract Employees – Employees hired to work on a contract basis, would be working for the number of hrs as mentioned/ agreed in the SOW signed by Utegration & Temporary employment agency. Individuals contracted from temporary employment agencies for specific assignments are considered employees of the respective agency and are not considered employees of the Company. Temporary agency employees are paid by the respective agency and should not be on the Company payroll

- Interns/Trainees – Interns hired to work on a normal, full-time workweek of forty five (45) hours or more. Such interns can be "Paid" or "Unpaid". However there could be a deviation from core timing based on project demands. Intimation and approval to be taken from Human Resource Consultant and the Managing Director.

OFFICE TIMINGS

- The core office timings for an employee to be present in office is 11:00 AM to 6:00 PM that includes 7 hours and the remaining two hours out of which 1 hour could before 11:00 AM or after 6:00 PM in office and the rest 1 hour could be from home/office. However there could be a deviation from core timing based on project demands that needs practice lead approval.
- No. of working hours – 9hrs (8 hours billable to the client or should be on bench, remaining 1 hour could be billable to client or towards the utilization.
- If someone is working less than 6 hours a day and not meeting the average hours in that week, it would be treated as 0.5 day leave.
- If someone is working less than 5 hours, it would be considered as half day leave, unless they have Deepak's approval.
- If someone is working less than 4 hours, it would be considered as full day leave, unless they have Deepak's approval.
- It is mandatory that every employee complete 8 working hours in a day, excluding all recreational activities and lunch/tea break.
- Employees need to use the Biometric Device present in the entrance to input their log in and log out timing.
- Failure to login or logout in the Biometric Device is considered as violation to office timing and may be marked as a forced vacation
- Reach out to Executive Admin to get the access card, badge and biometric registration.

It is important to wear the office badge while you are at office premises

PERSONNEL FILES

Utegration maintains a personnel file for each employee. You may review your personnel file upon request and in the presence of authorized personnel. If you are interested in reviewing your file, contact your HR to make arrangements.

To ensure that your personnel file is up-to-date always, notify your HR of any changes in your name, telephone number, home address, number of dependents, beneficiary designations, scholastic achievements, certifications the individuals to notify in case of an emergency and so forth.

JOB PERFORMANCE EVALUATIONS

You will be evaluated with respect to the specific job that you are performing. As you demonstrate the ability to take on additional responsibilities, your talents will be utilized in the manner deemed most suitable to your demonstrated ability and the needs of the Company.

A written performance evaluation of each employee may be performed periodically. The evaluation will be conducted by the career counsellor and will be reviewed with you. Any areas of specific achievement or in need of improvement will be noted and discussed with you. A positive performance review does not guarantee either an increase in compensation or continuing employment. Raises, if given, may be based on several factors, such as Utegration performance and profitability, department or group performance and individual performance.

SEPARATION FROM EMPLOYMENT

An employee may be separated from employment either voluntarily or involuntarily by retirement, resignation, lack of work or termination.

Exit Interviews

HR department may conduct an exit interview to discuss your reasons for leaving and any other impressions that you may have about Utegration. During the exit interview, you can provide insights into areas for improvement for Utegration and your specific position.

Return of Company Property

Any property issued to you by Utegration such as software, computer equipment, databases, files, cell phone, keys, parking passes, ID cards, Access cards, credit card(s) and all assets must be returned at the time of your termination. You will be responsible for any lost or damaged items.

EMPLOYEE CONDUCT

ANTI-HARASSMENT

It is the policy of the Company to maintain a working environment that encourages mutual respect and promotes respectful and congenial relationships between employees and that is free from all forms of harassment by anyone, including supervisors, co-workers, vendors, contractors or customers. Harassment, even when not unlawful or directed at a protected category, is expressly prohibited and will not be tolerated by the Company. Accordingly, Company management is committed to vigorously addressing complaints of harassment, sexual harassment and discrimination at all levels within the Company.

Reported or suspected occurrences of harassment or discrimination will be promptly and thoroughly investigated. Following an investigation, the Company will promptly take any necessary and appropriate disciplinary action.

The Company will not permit or condone any acts of retaliation against anyone who files harassment or discrimination complaints or cooperates in the investigation of same.

The term "harassment" includes harassment based race, color, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, national origin, genetics, disability, age or veteran status

1. Harassment nature where:

    a. Submission to such conduct is an explicit or implicit term or condition of employment;

    b. Employment decisions are based on an employee's submission to or rejection of such conduct; or,

    c. Such conduct unreasonably interferes with an individual's work performance or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive working environment.

Complaint Procedure

The Company provides its employees with a convenient and reliable method for reporting incidents of alleged harassment, including sexual harassment and discrimination. Any employee who feels harassed or discriminated against is encouraged to immediately inform the alleged harasser that the behaviour is unwelcome. In many instances, the person is unaware that his or her conduct is offensive and when so advised can easily and willingly correct the conduct so that it does not reoccur. If the informal discussion with the alleged harasser is unsuccessful in remedying the problem or if you do not feel comfortable with such an approach, you should immediately report the conduct to your immediate Supervisor, HR and Managing Director of Utegration. We cannot resolve a harassment or discrimination problem unless we know about it. Therefore, it is your responsibility to bring those kinds of problems to our attention so that we can take the necessary steps to correct the problem. The report should include all facts available to the employee regarding the alleged harassment or sexual harassment or discrimination.

Confidentiality

All reports of alleged harassment, sexual harassment or discrimination will be treated seriously. It will be kept confidential, and it will be shared only with those who have a need to know about it. Depending on the circumstances, that could include the alleged harasser. However, absolute confidentiality is not promised nor can it be assured.

Investigative Procedure

Once a complaint of alleged harassment or sexual harassment or discrimination is received, the Company will begin a prompt and thorough investigation. The investigation may include interviews with all involved employees, including the alleged harasser, and any employees who are aware of facts or incidents alleged to have occurred.

Following an investigation, the Company will promptly take any necessary and appropriate disciplinary action. Disciplinary action will be taken if the investigation reveals that an employee has acted in a manner that is not in alignment with the goal of this policy, even when the actions may be lawful. In fact, the Company may address any workplace issue discovered during an investigation. This may include some or all the following steps:

1. Restore any lost terms, conditions or benefits of employment to the complaining employee.

2. Discipline the alleged harasser. This discipline can include written disciplinary warnings, transfer, demotion, suspension and termination of employment.

If the alleged harassment or sexual harassment is from a vendor, contractor, customer or other third party, the Company will take appropriate action to stop the conduct.

Duties of Employees and Supervisors

All employees of the Company, both management and non-management, are responsible for assuring that a workplace free of harassment or sexual harassment and discrimination is maintained. Any employee may file a complaint regarding incidents experienced personally or incidents observed in the workplace. The Company strives to maintain a lawful, pleasant work environment where all employees can effectively perform their work without interference of any type and requests the assistance of all employees in this effort.

All Company supervisors and managers are expected to adhere to the Company's Anti-Harassment Policy. Supervisors' evaluations may include an assessment of a supervisor's efforts in following and enforcing this policy.

All managers and supervisors are responsible for doing all they can to prevent and discourage harassment, sexual harassment and discrimination from occurring. If a complaint of harassment or sexual harassment or discrimination is raised, the individual to whom the complaint is made (i.e., Supervisor, HR and the Managing Director). should act promptly. If such individual fails to follow this policy, he or she will be disciplined. Such discipline may include termination of employment with immediate effect without any Notice Pay.

ETHICS

Employees are expected to act ethically, honestly, and with the highest standard of personal integrity always in the performance of their job responsibilities.

You are to report any actual or potential violations of applicable laws or regulations and any unethical, dishonest or improper conduct to your Managing Director and HR Team. If you are uncertain as to the applicability of a law or this policy to your work, you are responsible for seeking guidance from your HR. No reprisal or detrimental action of any kind shall be taken against an employee who reports a violation of law or of this policy.

GUIDELINES FOR APPROPRIATE CONDUCT

As a Company team member, employees are expected to accept certain responsibilities, follow acceptable business principles in matters of conduct, and exhibit a high degree of integrity always. This not only involves sincere respect for the rights and feelings of others, but also demands that employees refrain from any behaviour that might be harmful to themselves, co-workers, the Company, or that might be viewed unfavourably by current or potential customers or by the public at large. Employee conduct reflects on the Company. Employees are, consequently, encouraged to observe the highest standards of professionalism always.

Types of behaviour and conduct that the Company considers inappropriate include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Falsifying employment or other Company records;
- Violating the Company's Anti-Harassment Policy;
- Violating security or safety rules or failing to observe safety rules or the Company safety practices; failing to wear required safety equipment; tampering with the Company's equipment or safety equipment;
- Soliciting gratuities from customers or clients;
- Exhibiting excessive or unexcused absenteeism or tardiness;

- Engaging in criminal conduct or acts of violence, or making threats of violence toward anyone on Company premises or when representing the Company; fighting, or provoking a fight on Company property, or negligent damage of property;
- Reporting to work under the influence of drugs or alcohol, and/or illegally manufacturing, possessing, using, selling, distributing or transporting drugs;
- Committing theft or unauthorized possession of Company property or the property of fellow employees; possessing or removing any Company property, including documents, from the premises without prior permission from management; using Company equipment or property for personal reasons without proper authorization; using Company equipment for profit;
- Giving confidential or proprietary Company information to competitors or other organizations, or to unauthorized Company employees; working for a competing business while an employee of the Company; breaching confidentiality of personnel information;
- Using obscene, abusive or threatening language or gestures;
- Acting in an insubordinate manner;
- Spreading malicious gossip and/or rumours; engaging in behaviour which creates discord and lack of harmony; interfering with another employee on the job; restricting work output or encouraging others to do the same;
- Sleeping or loitering during working hours;
- Soliciting, selling, or collecting funds for any purpose while on working time (not including meals and authorized breaks). Employees who are not on working time shall not interfere with the work of employees who are on working time.
- Posting, removing or altering notices on any bulletin board on Company property without the permission of an officer of the Company or in violation of procedures related to same;
- Smoking in restricted areas or at non-designated times, in accordance with Company policy.
- Taking long breaks during office hours without written /email approval from the Director.

- Consuming food from the work station.
- Usage of long personal calls during office working hours from the work area.
- Inviting friends, relatives, family members to office without prior approval from the Director.

VERBAL COUNSELING - A "verbal counselling" is a verbal communication to an employee that his/her conduct is unacceptable, and that repeated or continued failure to conform conduct or performance to the Company standards will result in more severe disciplinary action. A record of the notice of the verbal counselling may be made and retained in the employee's personnel file.

WRITTEN COUNSELING - A “written counselling" describes the unacceptable conduct or performance of the employee and specifies needed changes or improvements. A copy of the written counselling generally will be retained in the employee's personnel file.

SUSPENSION - Suspension of the employee's employment may, at the sole discretion of the Company, be used prior to termination. The length of the suspension will vary based upon such factors as the severity of the offense, the employee's performance and the employee's disciplinary record. An employee may be suspended for repeated instances of minor misconduct, failure to conform his/her conduct or performance to the standards of his/her position, or for a single serious offense. A record of the suspension generally will be retained in the employee's personnel file.

TERMINATION - If an employee fails to conform his/her conduct or performance to the standards required by the Company, the Company may, in its sole discretion, terminate the employee's employment even without providing notice and equivalent notice pay.

Notwithstanding the potential for less severe discipline before termination, the Company reserves the right to administer discipline in such a manner as it deems appropriate to the circumstances, and may, in its sole discretion, terminate an employee without prior discipline or without following a particular order of discipline.

VIOLENCE IN THE WORKPLACE (COMPANY & CLIENT) & DURING WORK ASSIGNMENT

It is the intent of the Company to provide a safe workplace for employees and to provide a comfortable and secure atmosphere for customers and others with whom we do business. The Company has zero tolerance for violent acts or threats of violence.

The Company expects all employees to conduct themselves in a non-threatening, non-abusive manner always. No direct, conditional or veiled threat of harm to any employee or Company property will be considered acceptable behaviour. Acts of violence or intimidation of others will not be tolerated. Any employee who commits or threatens to commit a violent act against any person while on Company premises will be subject to immediate discharge. If an employee, while engaged in Company business off the premises, commits or threatens to commit a violent act, that employee will be subject to immediate discharge.

Employees within the Company share the responsibility in identifying and alleviating threatening or violent behaviours. Any employee who is subjected to or threatened with violence, or who is aware of another individual who has been subjected to or threatened with violence, should immediately report this information to his/her supervisor or a member of Utegration management. Employees must assume that any threat is serious. If you as an individual feel threatened and need protection, do not hesitate to report the situation to a supervisor. Any threat reported to a supervisor should be brought to the attention of Utegration management. The Company will carefully investigate all reports, and employee confidentiality will be maintained to the full extent possible.

The Company's prohibition against threats and acts of violence applies to all persons involved in the Company's operation, including, but not limited to, personnel, contract and temporary workers, and anyone else on Company property. Violations of this policy by any individual on Company property will lead to disciplinary action, up to and including termination and/or legal action as appropriate.

EMPLOYEE SAFETY AND HEALTH

It is the policy of the Company to provide its employees a safe and healthy workplace and to follow procedures intended to safeguard all employees. Accident prevention and efficiency in production go together; neither should be given priority over the other.

Safety is everyone's responsibility. Every supervisor is expected to devote the time and effort necessary to ensure the safety of employees always.

Employee Responsibilities Include:

- Obeying the safety rules.
- Following safe job procedures and not taking shortcuts.
- Keeping work areas clean and free from slipping or tripping hazards.

- Using prescribed personal protective equipment.
- Immediately reporting all malfunctions to a supervisor.
- Using care when lifting and carrying objects.
- Observing restricted areas and all warning signs.
- Knowing emergency procedures.
- Reporting unsafe conditions to supervisors.
- Promptly reporting every accident and injury to one's supervisor.
- Following the care prescribed by the attending physician when treated for an injury or illness.
- Attending all employee safety meetings.
- Participating in accident investigations, serving on safety committee or other loss control activities as needed.

Failure to observe these guidelines may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of your employment, without any notice period effect.

WORKPLACE ACCIDENTS

All accidents, injuries, potential safety hazards, safety suggestions and health and safety-related issues must be reported immediately to your supervisor and/or to the HR Team. If you or another employee is injured, you should contact outside emergency response agencies, if needed.

DRUG-FREE WORKPLACE

The policy of the Company is to maintain a drug-free workplace. As a condition of continued employment, all Company employees must comply with this policy. The term "workplace" is defined as Company property, any Company sponsored activity or any other site where the employee is performing work for the Company or representing the Company. The term "drug" as used in this policy includes alcoholic beverages and prescription drugs, as well as illegal inhalants and illegal drugs, marijuana, opiates (e.g., heroin, morphine), cocaine, phencyclidine (PCP), and amphetamines and/or controlled substances. An employee who engages in an activity prohibited by this policy shall be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including immediate termination of employment.

Prohibited activities under this policy include the possession, use, sale, attempted sale, distribution, manufacture, purchase, attempted purchase, transfer or cultivation of drugs, as defined above, in the workplace, as defined above. Employees are also prohibited from being at the workplace with a detectable number of drugs in their system. However, the use and/or possession of prescription drugs, when taken as directed and obtained with a valid prescription, shall not be a violation of this policy.

COMPLAINT RESOLUTION PROCEDURE

Misunderstandings or conflicts can arise in any organization. To ensure effective working relations, it is important that such matters be resolved before serious problems develop. Most incidents resolve themselves naturally; however, should a situation persist that you believe is detrimental to your employment with the Company, you should follow the procedure described below for bringing your complaint to management's attention.

Step One. Discussion of the problem with your immediate supervisor is encouraged as a first step. If, however, you do not believe a discussion with your supervisor is appropriate, you may proceed directly to Step Two.

Step Two. If your problem is not resolved after discussion with your supervisor or if you feel discussion with your supervisor is inappropriate, you are encouraged to request a meeting with the HR Team or Managing Director of Utegration. To resolve the problem, we will consider the facts and may conduct an investigation.

The Company does not tolerate any form of retaliation against employees availing themselves of this procedure. The procedure should not be construed, however, as preventing, limiting or delaying the Company from taking disciplinary action against any individual, up to and including termination, in circumstances (such as those involving problems of overall performance, conduct, attitude or demeanour) where the Company deems disciplinary action appropriate.

HOURS AND COMPENSATION POLICIES

HOURS OF OPERATION

By being ready, willing and able to serve customers efficiently at any time and competing fairly in the marketplace and producing a quality product, we increase the opportunity for maintaining a steady flow of work. If you have questions regarding work hours or break times, please contact your HR.

PAYROLL PRACTICES

For payroll purposes, the workweek begins Monday at 12:01 a.m. and ends at 12:00 midnight Sunday. This practice may vary for those with flexible work schedules, but the workweek will always be a fixed 7-day period.

PAYDAY

Salary for the employees shall be credited to their respective account on the last working day of the bank for that particular month. In case of delay, either the management would be providing prior notice in regards to the salary payment if not please contact your HR for further queries.

ABSENTEEISM AND TARDINESS

Utegration can secure work based upon our estimates of performance and our history of reliability. Therefore, the Company expects all employees to assume diligent responsibility for their regular and reliable attendance and promptness. Continued dependability, quality and pride of service are factors over which each individual employee has a great deal of influence. If you are absent unexpectedly without reason and cannot perform your duties on time, or if you produce substandard work, we all pay the price by losing the confidence of the customer.

The work schedule is constructed around company-provided vacation time, paid time off, considering the maximum working hours and capabilities of the staff. It is extremely important that you be punctual in your arrival for work at the beginning of the workday or shift to which you are assigned. If you know that you will be absent or late arriving for work, notify your HR, Managing Director & project supervisor as soon as possible but within the first thirty (30) minutes of your work shift each day of your absence, unless you are granted leave of absence. In the event of a sickness or accident while performing your duties, notify your HR or supervisor immediately.

If you are absent for three (3) or more consecutive workdays due to personal illness, a statement from your healthcare provider may be required before you will be permitted to return to work.

Excessive unexcused absenteeism or tardiness is grounds for disciplinary action, up to and including termination, without notice and notice pay. In evaluating absences, the Company may consider, among other factors, reasons related to an employee's absences, the nature of the employee's job, and whether the employee gave proper notice about such absences. If you are absent for two (2) or more consecutive business days and fail to properly report your absences, this will be considered a voluntary resignation of your position, and the Company will process the separation of your employment without notice or notice period.

TIMESHEETS

Utegration employees will submit their time reports on a weekly basis for the previous week by 11:00 AM IST each Monday. As an employee, you are required to enter a minimum of 45 hours each week to account for your time. Failure to submit time sheet more than three times in a year or within the mentioned time as above would be considered as a violation of policy and will have a direct impact on your BONUS payment and your performance review. This should be allocated to client project work, internal project work, training, business development, vacation, holiday, personal time, sick, etc. If you don't have anything assigned to you, please contact your HR to let he/she know and they will work with the Utegration Leadership Team to identify an assignment for you. Any time that you can't account for in one of the general categories mentioned above should be entered as Project: 'Utegration:Bench'.

EXEMPT EMPLOYEE REDUCTION OF SALARY

Exempt employees are paid on a salary basis and, in general, must be paid their full salary for any week in which they perform work. Their salary may be reduced only in the following circumstances:

1. Employees who are absent for personal reason, sick or disability will not be paid for that day unless they have accrued leave balance.
2. Damages of Assets –Any damages made on the company asset will be charged and the commenced amount will be deducted from the employee's salary.
3. Deductions will be made if any employees who has received extra payment from the company by mistake.
4. Deductions will be made on the salary if any benefits are availed from the company, eg – car parking, Salary advance, and any other miscellaneous expense.
5. Deductions will be made on the salary if the employees fail to submit the receipt of the expense claimed.

Prohibited Reductions / Complaint Procedure

Any issues related to your salary/ payslip, or if the salary has been improperly reduced, please notify the Accounts and HR Team as soon as possible. Necessary investigation will be done and reverted to the concerned employee. No employee will be penalized in any way for making such a complaint.

OPERATIONS POLICIES

APPEARANCE

All employees should use good judgment about dress and appearance. Employees should dress in a manner that is consistent with both their place of work and the type of work they perform.

Please contribute to a positive work environment by maintaining high standards of neatness, grooming and personal hygiene. Also, please keep in mind that some individuals may be allergic to such things as perfumes, colognes and lotions. If you use such items, please use them in moderation and with consideration for those around you.

OUTSIDE EMPLOYMENT

Employees may hold outside jobs so long as they meet the performance standards of their job with the Company. All employees will be judged by the same performance standards and will be subject to scheduling demands, regardless of any existing outside work requirements.

If it is determined that an employee's outside work conflicts or interferes with performance, safety or the ability to meet the requirements of the Company as they are modified from time to time, the employee may be asked to terminate the outside employment if he desires to remain with the Company.

Outside employment that constitutes a conflict of interest is prohibited. Employees also may not receive any income or material gain from individuals outside the Company for materials produced or services rendered while performing their jobs with the Company.

PERSONAL PHONE CALLS AND PERSONAL BUSINESS

During business hours, you are requested to keep personal calls, including personal cell phone calls, to an absolute minimum. In case if you wanted to receive or make personal calls, you need to make sure to do the same from a meeting room or outside the office premise. No calls would be entertained from your seat location if it is creating uneasiness to the colleagues next to you.

No long distance or toll calls, such as directory assistance, other than Company business calls, are to be made from Company telephones. If it is necessary that you make a toll call from work, you must use your personal cell phone. Telephone records are subject to periodic review by management.

If you need to leave the worksite to conduct personal business, you must first obtain permission from your Director and then from the project lead by email. This will allow us to make modifications to the work schedule if necessary and will keep us aware of your activities during the day.

USE OF COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS

It is the intent of the Company to provide the communication systems necessary for the conduct of its business. Employees are expected to adhere to proper use of all communication systems. These include, but are not limited to, the telephone, electronic mail (e-mail), cell phone, Internet, corporate intranet, voice mail, computer terminals, modems, systems and other software. Employees are permitted use of Company property and must comply with Company policies and procedures regarding its use.

The communication systems are owned and operated by the Company and are to be used for the business of the Company. Employees should have no expectation of privacy of any correspondence, messages or information in the systems, regardless of the content or purpose of the same.

The Company reviews, monitors and accesses all electronic content, keystrokes and messages sent or received for any purpose, regardless of whether messages are transmitted/received via the Company's e-mail system or the employee's personal e-mail account(s). All such messages, regardless of content or the intent of the sender, are a form of corporate correspondence, and are subject to the same internal and external regulation, security and scrutiny as any other corporate correspondence. E-mail communications must be written following customary business communication practices as is used in Company correspondence. E-mail communications are official internal Company communications, which may be subject to summons in legal proceedings. Work-related messages should be directed to the affected employee(s) rather than sending a global message to all employees. It is the employee's obligation to notify any third parties affected by this policy of the Company's policies regarding monitoring employee communications. Email communications of any personal issues/ messages should be communicated through the employee personal email id. Sending emails from the official email ID for any kind of business proposal, appreciation to external companies (that are not Utegration active client) to third party vendors, colleges, organisations without the notice to Managing Director and HR is a violation of HR policy.

The Company's communication systems shall not be used as a forum to promote religious or political causes, or an illegal activity. Offensive or improper messages or opinions, transmission or postings of sexually explicit images or other images or materials inappropriate for the workplace, messages, cartoons, or other such items, or messages that may be construed as harassment or disparagement of others based on race, colour, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, national origin, genetics, disability, age or veteran status are also prohibited on the Company's communication systems. Employees shall not, unless authorized by personnel with the authority to grant such authorization, attempt to gain access to another employee's personal communications system and messages. The Company, however, reserves the right to access, and will access an employee's messages and other electronic data at any time, without notice to the employee. Any violation of these guidelines may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination, without any notice.

INTERNET CODE OF CONDUCT

Access to the Internet has been provided to staff members for the benefit of the organization and its clients. It allows employees to connect to information resources around the world. Every staff member has a responsibility to maintain and enhance the Company's public image and to use the Internet in a productive manner. To ensure that all employees are responsible, productive Internet users and are protecting the Company's public image, the following guidelines have been established for using the Internet.

Acceptable Use of the Internet

Employees accessing the Internet are representing the Company. All communications should be for professional reasons. Employees are responsible for seeing that the Internet is used in an effective, ethical and lawful manner. Instant Messaging Systems and Internet Forums may be used to conduct official Company business or to gain technical or analytical advice. Databases may be accessed for information as needed. E-mail may be used for business contacts.

Unacceptable Use of the Internet

The Internet should not be used for personal gain or advancement of individual views. Solicitation of non-Company business or any use of the Internet for personal gain is strictly prohibited. Use of the Internet must not disrupt the operation of the Company network or the network of other users. It must not interfere with your productivity.

Communications

Each employee is responsible for the content of all text, audio or images that he/she places or sends over the Internet including, but not limited to, any Web-based sites or programs utilized through the Company. Fraudulent, harassing or obscene messages are prohibited. All messages communicated on the Internet should have your name attached. No messages will be transmitted under an assumed name. Users may not attempt to obscure the origin of any message. Information published on the Internet should not violate or infringe upon the rights of others. No abusive, profane or offensive language may be transmitted through the system. Employees who wish to express personal opinions on the Internet are to use non-Company Internet systems and should refrain from making any representations that would somehow attribute their personal opinions to the Company.

Software

To prevent computer viruses from being transmitted through the system, there will be no unauthorized downloading of any software. All software downloads require prior management approval.

Copyright Issues

Staff members while using the Internet may not transmit copyrighted materials belonging to entities other than the Company. One copy of copyrighted material may be downloaded for use in research. Users are not permitted to copy, transfer, rename, add or delete information or programs belonging to other users unless given express permission to do so by the owner. Failure to observe copyright or license agreements may result in disciplinary action from the Company, up to and including immediate termination or legal action by the copyright owner.

Passwords

While our systems may accommodate the use of passwords for security, the reliability of such for maintaining confidentiality cannot be guaranteed. Individual passwords do not prevent the Company from accessing your files.

You are required, however, to disclose your password(s) to your supervisor because your system may need to be readily accessed by the Company when you are absent. Never disclose personal or system passwords to anyone other than authorized Company representatives.

Employees will not attempt to gain access to another employee's e-mail or voice mail messages. However, the Company reserves the right to access an employee's messages at any time, without notice, to the employee.

Security

All messages created, sent or retrieved over the Internet are the property of the Company and should be considered public information. The Company accesses and monitors all messages and files on the computer system as deemed necessary and appropriate. Internet messages are public communication and are not private. All communications including text and images can be disclosed to law enforcement or other third parties without prior consent of the sender or the receiver. You cannot change your computer password without permission from your supervisor.

Harassment

Harassment of any kind is prohibited. Messages with derogatory or inflammatory remarks about an individual or group's to race, colour, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, national origin, genetics, disability, age or veteran status will not be permitted.

Violations

Violations of any guidelines listed herein may result in disciplinary action, up to and including immediate termination. If necessary, the Company will advise appropriate legal officials of any illegal violations.

GIFTS AND FAVORS

No employee shall solicit or accept for personal use, or for the use of others, any gift, favour, loan, gratuity, reward, promise of future employment, or any other thing of monetary value that might influence, or appear to influence, the judgment or conduct of the employee in the performance of their job.

Employees can accept occasional unsolicited courtesy gifts or favours (such as business lunches, tickets to sporting events or cultural events, holiday baskets, flowers, etc.) and do not influence or appear to influence the judgment or conduct of the employee.

Employees are not to give, offer or promise directly or indirectly anything of value to any representative of a customer, a potential customer, a vendor or potential vendor, financial institution or potential financial institution with whom the Company has or may have a business relationship.

SOLICITATIONS AND DISTRIBUTION OF LITERATURE

It is the intent of the Company to maintain a proper business environment and prevent interference with work and inconvenience to others from solicitations and/or distribution of literature.

Group meetings for solicitation purposes, distributing literature, circulating petitions in work or sales areas is prohibited unless it is approved by the onsite supervisor as a Company-sponsored event. The following guidelines will apply throughout the Company:

- Employees will not engage in any solicitation of other employees for any purpose whatsoever during working hours or in work areas.
- In order to maintain good customer relations and preserve the professional work environment, employees may not wear any insignia, badge or button on their person, nor display any insignia, badge or button on their desk or in their work area, excluding professional designation awards, except as allowed by management.

- Management will approve and post all information that is displayed on the Company's bulletin board or make available for review or distribution to employees.
- The Company's facilities may not be used as a meeting place that involves solicitation and/or distribution of literature.
- Trespassing, soliciting or distributing literature by non-employees is prohibited on Company premises.

COMPANY PROPERTY

In an effort to ensure the safety and welfare of employees and invitees, the Company reserves the right, on reasonable suspicion that Company policy is being violated, to conduct searches or inspections which includes, but is not limited to, employee's work area, desks and any other property located on Company premises or worksites. Entry on Company premises or worksites constitutes consent to searches or inspections.

WEAPONS

It is the intent of the Company to provide a safe and secure workplace for employees, clients, customers of clients, visitors and others with whom we do business. The Company has "zero tolerance" for, and expressly forbids the possession of, while on Company property, any type of weapon, firearm, explosive and/or ammunition. For purposes of this policy, Company property includes, but is not limited to, all Company facilities, Company-provided parking areas and vehicles and equipment that are either leased or owned by the Company or a Company client. In addition, the Company strictly prohibits the carrying or possession of any weapon in a parking facility or parking area, including in employee-owned vehicles parked on Company property.

The possession of firearms or other weapons on Company property may be cause for discipline, including, but not limited to, immediate termination of employment. In enforcing this policy, the Company reserves the right to request inspections of any employee and their personal effects while on Company property, to the extent allowable under applicable law. Any employee who refuses to allow such an inspection will be subject to the same disciplinary action as having been found in possession of firearms or other weapons.

Employees within the Company share the responsibility of identifying violators of this policy. An employee who either witnesses or suspects another individual of violating this policy should immediately report this information to their supervisor or HR.

SMOKING

In order to maintain a safe and comfortable working environment and to ensure compliance with applicable laws, smoking in Company offices and facilities is strictly regulated. You should familiarize yourself with those areas throughout the premises where smoking is either permitted or prohibited. For your convenience, these areas have been marked clearly. Because the Company may be subject to criminal and civil penalties for violations of applicable smoking laws, we must insist on strict adherence to this policy. Employees smoking in any non-smoking area may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination. Complaints regarding violations of this policy may be filed under the Company's complaint resolution procedure, which is described elsewhere in this section of the handbook.

PERSONAL VEHICLES
